Musicians, DJ's and Engineers Help SPYN Grow

South Beach has always been a haven for musical trends to gain popularity and recognition due to its large concentration of nightclubs and demanding international DJ's that work the area. Always hot and crowded, this market is a proving ground for audio gear that is second to none. It is because of this environment that Miami based SPYN AUDIO has called on local Musicians, DJ's and Audio Engineers to help design their rugged, cost efficient line of pro audio gear.

SPYN manufactures power amplifiers and outboard gear that is well built, easy to use and affordable- three things they have learned to be of paramount importance from their research working with the locals. DJ SAMA, a radio, mobile and club DJ and recording artist with about 20 years experience in the Miami market said "Not everyone needs menu based; computer driven gear to get the job done. In fact, that type of gear tends to confuse many club owners, DJ's and musicians who are not audio engineers". "Instead, I prefer good basic designs that perform consistently well and won't break down in the heat".

SPYN AUDIO provides just that with their new product line-up and backs it with a comprehensive three year warranty. A good example of their commitment is the SRX-2700 power amp which features up to 2400 watts at 4 ohms bridged, 7 way power protection, balanced inputs with adjustable sensitivity, an onboard compressor, Speakon and binding post outputs and dual speed cooling fans at a dollar to watt ratio that is unsurpassed in the industry.
